Environment and Nature in New Zealand Newsletter

Number 1, March 2006

At the recent New Zealand Historical Association Conference in Auckland in late November 2005, the idea was mooted for a newsletter to be formed in order to link up people interested in topics relating to New Zealand and its environment. This includes people with interests in environmental history, landscape studies, literature and the environment, garden history, history of science, treaty history, and heritage issues.

This website aims to provide information about people and upcoming events, including conferences, books, seminars, etc.

If you want to add your details or any information, please contact the following:

James Beattie james.beattie@stonebow.otago.ac.nz

Matthew Morris mpm32@student.canterbury.ac.nz

Chief Editor: Dr. James Beattie; Associate Editors: Dr. Charles Dawson, Dr. Julian Kuzma, Matt Morris.

Thanks to Dr Libby Robin and CRES for hosting this site.

Members

Name: Ruth Barton Institutional Affiliation: University of Auckland

Qualifications:

MSc with distinction (mathematics, Wellington), PhD (history and sociology of science, Pennsylvania)

E-mail:

r.barton@auckland.ac.nz

Address:

History Department, University of Auckland, Private Bag 92019, Auckland.

Interests:

History of science: N.Z. c. 1800-1940; Britain, c.1800-1900.

Current Projects:

The X Club (famous white male, imperial scientists, located in London)
The scientific community in N.Z. (c.1860-1910)

Recent Publications (2004-6):

- 'Scientific Authority and Scientific Controversy in Nature: North Britain against the X Club'. In Louise Henson, Geoffrey Cantor, Gowan Dawson, Richard Noakes, Sally Shuttleworth, and Jonathon R. Topham (eds) Culture and Society in the Nineteenth-Century Media. Aldershot: Ashgate, 2004, pp. 223-235.
- 'Hirst, Thomas Archer (1830-91)'. In: Bernard Lightman (general ed.) The Dictionary of Nineteenth-Century British Scientists. 4 vols. Bristol, Thoemmes Continuum, 2004: vol. 2, pp. 973-77.
- 'Lubbock, John (Lord Avebury) (1834-1913)'. In: Bernard Lightman

- (general ed.) The Dictionary of Nineteenth-Century British Scientists. 4 vols, Bristol, Thoemmes Continuum, 2004: vol. 3, pp. 1272-78.
- 'Spottiswoode, William (1825-83)'. In: Bernard Lightman (general ed.) The Dictionary of Nineteenth-Century British Scientists. 4 vols, Bristol, Thoemmes Continuum, 2004: vol. 4, pp. 1889-91.

Name: James Beattie Institutional Affiliation:

"Asia in New Zealand" Research Fellow, University of Otago

Qualifications:

B.A. Hons, Ph.D.

E-mail:

james.beattie@stonebow.otago.ac.nz

Address:

Department of History, University of Otago, P.O. Box 56, Dunedin,

New Zealand

Website:

http://www.otago.ac.nz/history/staff/james_b.html

Interests:

Environmental history of New Zealand, India, Australia and China, colonial art history, comparative environmental history, nineteenth century German and Scottish science, medical history

Current Projects:

Chinese-New Zealand gardens; Japanese gardens in New Zealand; Asian-New Zealand nineteenth century medical science and forestry; Scientists educated in Scotland and northern Europe in British Empire and their contribution to natural history; colonial artist Alfred Sharpe; medical history; comparative Australian-New Zealand environmental history; 'The Forgotten

Romantic: Environment, Literature and Art in New Zealand, 1840-1920 (with Julian Kuzma); natural theology (with John Stenhouse).

Recent Publications (2004-6):

- "W. L. Lindsay, Scottish environmentalism, and the 'improvement' of nineteenth-century New Zealand", in Tony Ballantyne and Judith A. Bennett, eds., Landscape/Community: Perspectives from New Zealand History, Dunedin, 2005, pp.43-56.
- with Dr. Paul Star, "State Forest Conservation and the New Zealand Landscape: Origins and Influences, 1850-1914", in Landscape/Community, pp.17-29.
- Review of: Kavita Philip, Civilising Natures: Race, Resources and Modernity in Colonial South India, in New Zealand Journal of Asian Studies, 7, 2 (December, 2005), pp.
- with Dr. John Stenhouse, "God and the natural world in nineteenth-century New Zealand", in John Stenhouse, ed., assisted by Antony Wood, Christianity, Modernity and Culture: New Perspectives of New Zealand History, Adelaide, 2005, pp.180-203.
- "Alfred Sharpe's forest consciousness in New Zealand and Australia, 1859-1908", in Michael Calver et al., eds., Proceedings of the 6th National Conference of the Australian Forest History Society Inc., Rotterdam, 2005, pp.17-25.
- Review of: Greg Bankoff, Cultures of Disaster: Society and natural hazard in the Philippines, in New Zealand

- Journal of Asian Studies, 6, 2 (December, 2004), pp.193-6.
- "Rethinking Science, Religion and Nature in Environmental History: Drought in Early Twentieth-Century New Zealand", "Special Issue: The Frontiers of Environmental History"/"Sonderheft: Umweltgeschichte in der Erweiterung", Historical Social Research/Historische Sozialforschung, 29, 3 (November, 2004), pp.82-103.

Other comments:

I am book reviews editor for the New Zealand Journal of Asian Studies.

Name: James Braund Institutional Affiliation:

Deptartment of German and Slavonic Studies (SELL), Auckland University.

Qualifications:

Ph.D.

E-mail:

j.braund@auckland.ac.nz

Address:

The University of Auckland, Private Bag 92019, Auckland 1001

Interests:

German connections with NZ and the Pacific, esp. German-Pacific scientific connections prior to WWI; European exploration of the Pacific; German anthropological interest in the South Pacific; Science History; Environmental History.

Current Projects:

German perspectives on environmental change in 19th century NZ; J.R. and G. Forster in NZ (1773 & 1774).

Recent Publications (2004-6):

(Select list only)

- 2006. "'die Königinn der südlichen Welt?'. Georg Forster und Neuseeland", Georg-Forster-Studien XI [forthcoming].
- 2006. [with Douglas G. Sutton] "The Case of Heinrich Wilhelm Poll (1877-1939): A German-Jewish Geneticist, Eugenicist, Twin Researcher, and Victim of the Nazis", Journal of the History of Biology [forthcoming].
- 2005. [with Wilfried Heller] The 'Bohemians' in New Zealand An Ethnic Group?, Auckland, Research Centre for Germanic Connections with New Zealand and the Pacific, vii + 56pp.
- 2005. Im Schatten zweier Kriege:
 Deutsche und Österreicher in Neuseeland im zwanzigsten
 Jahrhundert, ed. by James N. Bade with the assistance of Gabriele
 Borowski and James Braund. Bremen, Edition Temmen, 391pp. [editorial assistant / translator / chapter author].
- 2005. "German-Speaking Scientists in New Zealand 1773-1951: Research Past, Present and Future", in: Bernadette Luciano and David G. Mayes (eds), New Zealand and Europe: Connections and Comparisons (= European Studies, vol. 21) Amsterdam, Rodopi, pp.173-187.
- 2004. "The Pacific Legacy of George Forster", in: Europe's Pasts and Presents: Proceedings of the Fourteenth Biennial Conference of the Australasian Association for European History, ed. by Stephan Atzert and Andrew G. Bonnell. Unley [SA], Australian Humanities Press, pp.245-260.

Name: Tom Brooking Institutional Affiliation:

Professor of History, University of Otago

Oualifications:

Ph D E-mail:

tom.brooking@stonebow.otago.ac.nz

Address:

History Department, University of Otago, PO Box 56, Dunedin, New Zealand

Interests:

Agricultural sustainabilty, environmental impacts of farming, environmental history of New Zealand and New World comparisons, impact of British heritage, practice and attitudes on the environmental history of New Zealand.

Current Projects:

Marsden funded project on Empires of grass: The transformation of the New Zealand Grasslands, 1850s-1920s. this involves a team of 8 historians and geographers and will result and several articles and co-author book and University of Otago Humanities' research cluster on the impact of sheep and dairy farming on the Mataura river basin in Southland, 1945to the present. This involves working with a rural sociologist cum anthropologist of food and an ecologist.

Recent Publications (2004-6):

• 2004 The History of New Zealand, Greenwood Press (USA) series.

Name: Charles Dawson Institutional Affiliation:

Waitangi Tribunal

Qualifications:

BA (Hist/Engl); MA(American studies) PhD (Brit Col)

E-mail:

charles.dawson@justice.govt.nz

Address:

C/- Waitangi Tribunal PO Box 5022 Wellington

Interests:

Environmental history; literatures/arts & the environment; Te reo Maori, Treaty history, 'ecocriticism'; rivers/water and literature/culture/law

Current Projects:

Vice-President, Australasian branch of a global literature and environment network (www.asle-anz.asn.au); work on Wai 262 flora and fauna and cultural IP claim; occasional work on a book entitled Writing the memory of rivers

Recent Publications (2004-6):

Reviews in Takahe and Canadian Literature on environmental, indigenous rights and Māori language books; catalogue essay for Turi Park's exhibit at www.idiom.co.nz

Other comments:

The ASLE literature and environment network complements this one (includes environmental historians/ecologists)

Name: Mark Derby Institutional Affiliation:

Waitangi Tribunal

Oualifications:

Masters of NZ Studies

E-mail:

mark.derby@justice.govt.nz

Address:

C/- Waitangi Tribunal PO Box 5022 Wellington

Interests:

Te reo Maori, Treaty history, Tutira (curated permanent exhibition at Hawkes Bay Museum), architecture

Current Projects:

Curating exhibition on 1913 strike for Museum of Wellington, City and Sea, working as researcher on Waitangi

Tribunal's East Coast and Tongariro National Park inquiries

Recent Publications (2004-6):

Essay on prefabricated housing in 1950s New Zealand, to appear in Fabrications (Journal of Society of Architectural History Australia and NZ) in 2006

Name: Kirsty Douglas Institutional Affiliation:

History Programme, Research School of Social Sciences, ANU, Canberra

Qualifications:

Ph.D. E-mail:

kirsty@coombs.anu.edu.au

Address:

History Program RSSS, ANU, Canberra, 0200, Australia

Interests:

History of science, geology, Australian and comparative environmental history

Current Projects:

colonial meteorology; geological heritage and national identity

Name: James Hudson Institutional Affiliation:

Centre for Indigenous Governance & Development, Massey University

Qualifications:

LLM (Victoria University)

E-mail:

j.t.hudson@massey.ac.nz

Address:

Private Bag 11 222, Palmerston North, New Zealand

Name: Julian Kuzma Qualifications: Ph.D. (Otago) E-mail:

juliankuzma@hotmail.com

Address:

14 Collins Place, Edinburgh, EH3 5JD, Scotland.

Interests:

Environmental literature and history.

Current Projects:

- God's Own Country: Landscape & Literature in New Zealand – a book on environmental literature.
- 'Introduction' to new edition of A. Rees' The Merry Marauders (1913). (in press, Otago English Studies, 2006).
- With Tom Brooking, 'Land of the Long Environmental Silence: W. P. Reeves' Ao Tea Roa as landmark environmental history'.
- With James Beattie, 'The Forgotten Romantic: Environment, Literature and Art in New Zealand, 1840-1920'.
- Writing a NZ historical romance.

Name: Gavin McLean Institutional Affiliation: Ministry for Culture & Heritage Qualifications: Ph.D., DipMusStud

E-mail:

Gavin.mclean@mch.govt.nz

Address:

Ministry for Culture & Heritage, PO Box 5364, Wellington

Interests:

Heritage, local, imperial, business, transport history

Current Projects:

- Governor-General history (UOP 06)
- Heartlands: NZ Historians Write About Places Where History happened (Penguin, Apr 06 co-edited with Ky Gentry)
- Chapter on Stone Store for Judith Binney book
- Helicopters (NZ) Ltd (Hazard Press 06)
- Reed Publishing (NZ) Ltd (Reeds 07)
- Anthology of Reeds writing (Reeds 07)
- Update of guide to writing local history (UOP 06) Te Ara entries Feb 06
- Recent Publications (2004-6):
- Wellington: History, Culture & Heritage (UOP 2004)
- We Were Different: The Tasman Express Story (Ventures Two, 2004)
- Frontier of Dreams (Hodder Moa Beckett 2005, co-edited with Bronwyn Dalley)

Name: Lachy Paterson Institutional Affiliation:

Massey University, Palmerston North

Oualifications:

Ph.D. E-mail:

L.Paterson@massey.ac.nz

Address:

School of History, Philosophy and Politics, Massey University, Private Bag 11 222, Palmerston North

Interests:

New Zealand race relations

Recent Publications (2004-6):

• 'Mana Maori Motuhake: Challenges to "kāwanatanga" 1840-1940' [pp 163-170] and [with J. Stenhouse] 'Ngā Poropiti me ngā Hāhi: Prophets and the Churches' [pp 171-180] in Tānia M. Ka'ai etal (eds) Ki te Whaiao: An introduction to Māori Culture and Society (Auckland: Pearson Educational, 2004).

Other comments:

I am interested in environmental history, although it is not a primary research area.

Name: Robert Peden

Institutional Affiliation:

University of Otago

Qualifications:

BA, BA Hons, MA

E-mail:

robert.susan@xtra.co.nz

Address:

27 Derrett Place, St Martins, Christchurch

Interests:

Agricultural, Rural, Environmental, Social History

Current Projects:

Ph.D.

Name: Kerryn Pollock

Oualifications:

M.A. E-mail:

kerryn.pollock@paradise.net.nz

Address:

3/21 Waripori Street, Berhampore, Wellington

Interests:

Environmental history (plant introductions and treatment, particularly c19th, settler/colonising adaptations to new environment/treatment of natural environment), Wellington heritage.

Current Projects:

Small publication entitled 'Heritage of Health: a brief history of medicine, maternity hospitals and motorways in Te Aro, Wellington' with Natasha Naus; research assistance for Associate Professor Don Garden (University of Melbourne) on historical El Niño weather patterns in N.Z.

Name: Rebecca Priestley Institutional Affiliation:

University of Canterbury

Qualifications:

BSc Hons (first class) in earth sciences, now working on PhD in HPS

E-mail:

rebeccap@paradise.net.nz

Address:

PO Box 7145, Wellington South

Interests:

New Zealand's nuclear history; Twentieth century New Zealand science and scientists

Current Projects:

PhD thesis on New Zealand's nuclear history; Te Ara Encyclopaedia entry on Charles Cotton and changing ideas of landscape development in NZ

Recent Publications (2004-6):

Popular articles related to thesis work include "Hot property", NZ Listener, 5 November 2005 and "Material evidence", NZ Listener, 27 August 2005.

Other comments:

 Article on Uranium prospecting on New Zealand's West Coast, 1950s-1970s (first presented at Historical

- Geographers Conference in Auckland, December 2003) due to be published in New Zealand Geographer in 2006.
- Te Ara encyclopaedia entry on the Search for Radioactive Minerals in NZ due to go online in 2006.

Name: Francis Lucian Reid Institutional Affiliation:

Department of History and Philosophy of Science, University of Cambridge

Qualifications:

MPhil, MA (Cantab)

E-mail:

flr25@cam.ac.uk

Address:

Corpus Christi College, Trumpington Street, Cambridge CB2 1RH

Interests:

History of Science, History of Environmental Perception, History of Transport, History of Technology.

Current Projects:

The New Zealand Institute and a cultural history of New Zealand science, 1867-c.1905 (Ph.D. thesis in progress)

Recent Publications (2004-5):

- "Isaac Frost's Two Systems of Astronomy (1846): plebeian resistance and scriptural astronomy" in: British Journal for the History of Science, 38:2 (2005) 161-177
- "The democratic politician does not trouble himself with science': class and professionalisation in the New Zealand Institute, 1867-1903" in: Tuhinga: The journal of scholarship and mātauranga of the Museum of New Zealand Te Papa Tongarewa, 16, (2005) 21-31.

Name: Libby Robin Institutional Affiliation:

CRES, Australian National University

Qualifications:

PhD, BA, (Hons), BSc, Dip.Ed, (Melb.)

E-mail:

libby.robin@anu.edu.au

Address:

CRES, Building 43, ANU, Canberra 0200, Australia.

Interests:

History of Australian (and comparative settler society) science

Current Projects:

environmental history of Australia, nationalism and science in settler societies Recent Publications (2004-5):

- (with Tom Griffiths) 'Environmental History of Australasia', Environment and History, 10, 4 (December 2004)
- A Change in the Weather: Climate and Culture in Australia, edited with Tim Sherratt and Tom Griffiths), Canberra: NMA, 2005.
- Strata: Deserts, Past, Present and Future, edited with Mandy Martin and Mike Smith, Canberra: Goanna; Mandy Martin, 2005
- Understanding the Environment: Bridging the Disciplinary Divides, edited with R. Quentin, Grafton and Robert Wasson, Sydney: UNSW Press, 2005.

In Press:

Nature and Nation: Science, People and environment in Australia, Sydney: UNSW Press, (forthcoming, 2007).

Other comments: Co-ordinator of (Australian) Environmental History Network

Name: Kirstie Ross
Institutional Affiliation:

Curator History, Museum of New Zealand

Te Papa Tongarewa Oualifications:

MA (First Class Honours) in History

E-mail:

kirstier@tepapa.govt.nz

Address:

Te Papa, P O Box 467, Wellington

Interests:

Cultural history of nature especially the relationship between nature, popular culture, and citizenship, Specific interests include the popularisation of botany and natural history in museums, nature study in schools, tourism and outdoor recreation (especially tramping), the creation of parks and gardens, nature and aesthetics

Current Projects:

- Co-curating an environmental history exhibition, Blood, Earth, Fire. Whangai, Whenua, Ah iKä: The Transformation of Aotearea New Zealand opening at Te Papa at the end of April 2006
- Preparing a book about nature, popular culture and citizenship 1900-1960 for publication by AUP in its Studies in Cultural and Social History series (working title 'A Proper Sense of Country')

Recent Publications

Review essay of The Wonder Country: Making New Zealand Tourism and Our Islands Our Selves: A History of Conservation in New Zealand in New Zealand Books, August 2005

Name: Paul Star

Institutional affiliation:

Postdoctoral fellow, History Department,

University of Otago Qualifications:

M.A. (Cantab), M.A. Ph.D. (Otago)

E-mail:

starmulq@es.co.nz

Address:

246 Harington Point Road, RD2 Dunedin

New Zealand environmental history, forest history, agricultural history, history of science

Current projects:

Pasture development in New Zealand to 1930; 'People and the environment' chapter for the forthcoming New Oxford History of New Zealand

Recent publications:

- "Native forests to empires of grass: The construction of New Zealand's grasslands", in Michael Calver et al (eds), A Forest Conscienceness: Proceedings of the Sixth National Conference of the Australian Forest History Society, Millpress, Rotterdam, 2005, pp 575-585.
- Review of David Young, 'Our Islands, Our Selves: A History of Conservation in New Zealand', Archifacts, April 2005, pp 103-106.

- (with James Beattie) "State forest conservation and the New Zealand landscape: Origins and influences, 1850-1914", in Tony Ballantyne and Judith A Bennett (eds), Landscape/Community: Perspectives from New Zealand History, University of Otago Press, Dunedin, 2005, pp 31-41.
- "Doomed timber': Towards an environmental history of Seaward Forest", in Tony Ballantyne and Judith A Bennett (eds), Landscape/Community: Perspectives from New Zealand History, University of Otago Press, Dunedin, 2005, pp 17-29.

Name: Jonathan West

Institutional Affiliation:

University of Otago

Oualifications:

BA Double Hons English and Political Studies; Master of Arts Political Studies

wesjo856@student.otago.ac.nz

Address:

9 Braeview Cres, Maori Hill, Dunedin.

Interests:

Academic: Politics, Local History,

Environmental stuff.

Personal: tramping, sport, cards, music.

Current Projects:

Ph.D. – Environmental History of Otago

Peninsula.

Name: Jo Whittle

Institutional Affiliation:

Department of History, University of

Auckland Oualifications: BA, MSc (Resource Management)

E-mail:

jo.whittle@gmail.com

Address:

12 Terminus Street, Silverstream, Upper Hutt

Interests:

Environmental history, historical geography, concepts of landscape, environment and technology, environment and popular culture

Current Projects:

Ph.D.: 'Electric Landscapes: Electricity and Environment in 20th Century New Zealand'

Name: Jim Williams Institutional Affiliation:

University of Otago Oualifications:

Ph.D.

E-mail:

jim.williams@stonebow.otago.ac.nz

Address:

35 Thorn St., Dunedin

Interests:

Environmental history (especially precontact)

Current Projects:

Ancestral land as a motivator for natural resource management

Recent Publications (2004-6):

- 2004 a book chapter, "Traditional Mäori Images of Geographic Space", in Kearsley, Geoff and FitzHarris, Blair (Eds) 2004; Glimpses of a Gaian World, School of Social Sciences, University of Otago, Dunedin, Pp 271 283.
- 2004b: Ph.D. thesis, 'e Päkihi Hakinga a Kai, University of Otago

- 2005a Research Report Freeman, Claire, Cheyne, Christine, Ellery, Norah, Ding, Paula
- The Impact of Rising Property Prices on Coastal Settlement Communities (My contribution was the material addressing impact on Maori coastal communities)
- 2005b Commissioned Research Report: Hokanson, Jeff, Chapman, Fred and Williams, Jim 2005; ETHNOGRAPHIC INVESTIGATIONS AT CAMP GUERNSEY, WYOMING Confidential report to the Wyoming Army National Guard.

Name: Vaughan Wood Institutional Affiliation:

Geography Department, University of Canterbury

Qualifications:

Ph.D.

E-mail:

gareth.wood@canterbury.ac.nz

Current Projects:

Empires of Grass (Marsden Fund project)

Name: Graeme Wynn Institutional Affiliation:

The University of British Columbia, Department of Geography

Qualifications:

Ph.D. (Toronto, 1974)

E-mail:

wynn@geog.ubc.ca

Address:

Department of Geography, University of British Columbia, 1984 West Mall, Vancouver, V6T 1Z2, Canada.

Interests:

Environmental History, Acclimatisation/invasive species, forest history, historical geography

Current Projects:

- Environmental history of Canada (2 books)
- Recent Publications (2004-6):
- "On Heroes, Hero-Worship, and the Heroic in Environmental History," Environment and History, 10, 2 (May 2004), pp. 133-51
- "A Place for Geography?" New Zealand Geographer, (Special IGU Year Issue: Understanding Our Place in the World: New Voices/ New Directions), 60, 1 (April 2004), pp. 2-11
- BC Studies: On the Environment Special Double Issue of BC Studies # 142/143 (Summer/Fall 2004). Guest Editor. ISSN 0005-2949; ISBN 0-9736638-0-4. 352pp
- "Shall We Linger along Ambitionless'? Environmental Perspectives on British Columbia" BC Studies Special issue "On the Environment," #142/143 (Summer /Fall 2004), pp.5-67
- Lost in Translation, or, Adrift in Interdisciplinary Space," BC Studies Special issue "On the Environment" #142/143 (Summer /Fall 2004), pp. 287-95
- "Of canoes, and pines, and rockbound gardens," Foreword to Claire Campbell, Shaped by the West Wind (Vancouver: University of British Columbia Press, 2004) (I am General Editor of the Nature/History/Society Series at UBCP in which this volume appears)

- "Peeping Through the Cracks: Seeking Connections, Comparisons, and Understanding in Unstable Space," in J. Reid and S. Hornsby (eds), Connections and Comparisons: New England and Atlantic Canada (Montreal and Kingston: McGill-Queen's University Press, 2005), pp. 295-313, 404-6
- "Reflections on the Nature of an Urban Bog," Urban History Review XXXIV, 1 (Fall 2005 automne), pp. 9-27. Special issue on The Nature of Cities, (with Sally Hermansen)

Call for Papers

Kōtuitui co-editors, Professor Stephen Levine and Professor Paul Spoonley invite authors to submit research papers from all social science disciplines for consideration in future issues of the journal. Papers should be of high quality that can be expected to attract citations from other researchers, both international and domestic. As well as excellent disciplinary research, we welcome:

Papers connecting social science research to other disciplines.

Multi- and trans-disciplinary research. Links between research and public policy. Research into national and international trends and issues relevant to New Zealand.

All papers must be the original work of the author(s), and not under consideration by any other publisher.

For more information see http://www.rsnz.org/publish/kotuitui/ Please submit papers by email to: kotuitui@rsnz.org

Issue 1 of Kōtuitui: New Zealand Journal of Social Sciences Online to be launched in 2006

The RSNZ's newest journal, Kōtuitui: New Zealand Journal of Social Sciences Online, has been well supported since its establishment in July. The editorial team are currently compiling issue one, which is due to be launched early in 2006.

"Kōtuitui is the result of a dedicated team of eminent social scientists from different disciplines, tertiary institutions and research centres throughout the country working together and we look forward to celebrating its launch in next year," said Steve Thompson, RSNZ Chief Executive. The peer-reviewed research journal encourages top-flight social science inquiry and research across all social science disciplines. The name Kōtuitui means interweaving and reflects the interdisciplinary nature of the journal. The journal will be freely available online facilitating the distribution of New Zealand social science knowledge both nationally and internationally.

Conference

Announcements

Kahikatea forest, Westland Nancy Adams

Trans-Tasman Forest History: First announcement

Seventh Conference of the Australian Forest History Society 29 January to 2 February 2007 Christchurch, New Zealand

Where? For the first time, there is to be a forest history conference in New Zealand! The AFHS conference will be held in University Hall, a residential college of the University of Canterbury in Christchurch, with additional facilities provided by the University's forestry school. The Hall has a conference room, accommodation in single rooms, and provision for meals. For those preferring other accommodation, a list of nearby motels will be provided in mid-2006 with the registration brochure.

Christchurch is the largest city in the South Island of New Zealand, with direct flight links to Sydney, Melbourne, Brisbane, Auckland, Wellington, Dunedin, and elsewhere. As one of the least forested parts of New Zealand at the time of European settlement, Canterbury Province became an early centre both for indigenous conservation and for exotic afforestation.

Visitors to Christchurch who wish to experience native forest in its fullest glory, both nothofagus and mixed podocarp, need only travel via Arthur's Pass to the West Coast.

What? In line with the six previous conferences, the New Zealand conference welcomes papers and presentations on every aspect of Australian forest history, and it is anticipated that there will be a strong attendance from Australia. As the first Society conference in NZ, however, there will undoubtedly also be a major contribution from New Zealanders, with greater than usual emphasis on NZ environmental and forest history.

The conference has been described as a Trans-Tasman Forest History Conference to encourage participants to consider links and comparisons between NZ and Australia's environmental experience. Historical outlooks on both indigenous and exotic forestry and forests, as well as some papers on other environments, will be included.

For New Zealanders interested in their past and present forests, this is a unique opportunity to assess their country's experience and to place it in an international context. Those from beyond the Tasman are also encouraged to attend and share their knowledge and perspectives.

When? The conference will run from the evening of Monday 29 January through to the end of Friday 2 February 2007 and will include two full days and one half-day of papers, one afternoon and one full-day field trip, and a conference dinner. Field trips will be at least to Riccarton Bush and Banks' Peninsula, with other possibilities further from Christchurch.

Who? Australian Forest History Society conferences aim to be inclusive and sociable. They attract people from many different disciplines, occupations and walks of life. They provide a venue for the exchange of knowledge and outlook between foresters, activists, local people, and historians, geographers, biologists and other academics. Everyone is welcome.

The Australian Forest History Society

was formed in 1988 and has members in Australia, New Zealand and other countries. It has held six earlier national conferences, in ACT, Victoria, New South Wales, Queensland, Tasmania and Western Australia. Earlier conference proceedings have been published, most of them in association with the Centre for Resource and Environmental Studies in the Australian National University, Canberra, ACT. The Society produces a regular newsletter and maintains contact with similar organizations devoted to environmental and forest history in other countries.

The aim of the Society is to advance historical understanding of human interactions with the environment. While the Society's main emphasis has been on Australian forest and woodland environments, previous conferences have also included contributions on forest environments in New Zealand, Asia and the Pacific, and on ecosystems other than forests. The Society does not provide a forum for advocacy of environmental or forest policy, but welcomes different perspectives. The Society operates without sponsorship. New members are welcome, but membership is not a condition for conference attendance.

For more information on the Australian Forest History Society Inc. and the latest information on the New Zealand conference, see the AFHS website:

http://cres.anu.edu.au/environhist/afhsociety.html

Please e-mail the following details to starmulq@es.co.nz or mail them to Paul Star/Australian Forest History Society, History Department, University of Otago, PO Box 56, Dunedin, New Zealand.

Expression of Interest Form

Please record my interest in the seventh AFHS conference 2007 and send me further details when they are available.

Title First Name
Surname
Address
Post Code
Telephone
E-mail
I am interested in attending
I would like to offer a paper on
For accommodation I would prefer:

Single room in University Hall
Self-book in nearby motel
Make own arrangements

Environment and Nature in Asia: Special Symposium

Dunedin 2 September 2006

This special one-day symposium on Saturday 2 September 2006 aims to explore aspects of Asia's environmental history. Speakers include scholars of environmental history, garden history, aesthetics, literature, garden history, and visual culture.

A Special Edition of the New Zealand Journal of Asian Studies in June 2007 will be devoted to selected papers from the symposium, as well as those by invited contributors.

For more information contact Dr. James Beattie (james.beattie@stonebow.otago.ac.nz).

The Cabinet of Natural History

Department of History and Philosophy of Science, University of Cambridge (http://www.hps.cam.ac.uk/seminars/cabinet .html) welcomes papers on all aspects of the history of Natural History, including environmental history, and is a good venue for New Zealand historians to present work and receive feedback from an international audience.